OTHER RESPONSIVE DESIGN TECHNIQUES

MAX-WIDTH

The max-width property defines the maximum width of an element. The element will never be wider than the max-width set.

Note: This prevents the value of the width property from becoming larger than max-width. The value of the max-width property overrides the width property.

It can used on any "block" level html element like a div.

div {
    max-width: 600px;
div {
    width: 600px;
     max-width: 600px;
}
div {
    width: 80%;
     max-width: 600px;
}
```

MAX-HEIGHT

The max-height property defines the maximum height of an element. The element will never be taller than the max-height set.
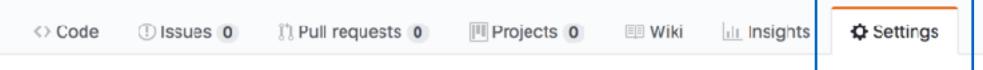

Note: This prevents the value of the height property from becoming larger than max-height. The value of the max-height property overrides the width property.

It can used on any "block" level html element like a div.

div {
    max-height: 600px;
div {
    height: 600px;
    max-height: 600px;
}
div {
    height: 80%;
    max-height: 600px;
}
```
